

with all major media owned by just ten large corporations everything broadcast or read in this country tends to have far right tinge to it and all major political stories are spun, edited and even ignored. We can at least attempt to keep these propaganda mills within the law.